THE NETHERLANDS ANTILLES & ARUBA

The Netherlands Antilles and Aruba consist of two groups of , about 550 or more miles apart. Curacao (190 square miles), (70 square miles), and Bonaire (110 square miles) are just off the coast of Venezuela. St. Eustatius (12 square miles), Saba (5 miles), and the southern part of St. Maarten (16 square miles), are south-east of Puerto Rico. The northern two-thirds of St. Maarten are French and administered from Guadeloupe. The total area of the Nederlands Antilles and Aruba is 393 square miles, and the estimated population 250,000. The capital of Netherlands Antilles is Willemstad on Curacao.

A revision of the Netherlands Charter (December 15, 1954) raised the Netherlands Antilles to equality with the Netherlands homeland, with complete internal autonomy and a voice in the government of the Kingdom. On January 1, 1986, Aruba was also granted complete internal autonomy, and a voice in the government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands.

COAT OF ARMS

On the left of the viewer there are two Greek letters, Alpha and Omega, the beginning and end of the alphabet, signifying Christ who is the beginning and end, under the monogram KHRHO which also represents Christ. God's kingdom is established and extended through Christ. On the right of the viewer there is a central star representing Mary, the Mother of Christ and Star of the Sea, on a blue back-ground. This star shines on six smaller stars which represent the six islands of the diocese which rest on the waves of the Caribbean Sea. In the triangular bottom section there are three eels to indicate the family name Ellis which is derived from the Scotch word eel.

Motto: "Adveniat Regnum Tuum" Thy Kingdom Come. This kingdom will come through Christ our Redeemer and the intercession of Mary his Mother.
